Darawa is the largest camel markets in Egypt. Most of the camels come in caravans from Sudan's and Darfur along the Darb Al Arba'een to north of Abu Simbel before being trucked to Daraw. you will see more than 2000 camels in this market.

Camels are sold there every day of the week, but the main days are Tuesday, Saturday and Sunday. they spend two days in quarantine before being sold by their Sudanese owners. Most go on to the camel market in Birqash, about 35km northwest of Cairo, where they are either sold to Egyptian farmers, exported to neighbouring countries or slaughtered for meat.
